

Derek Weisbeck, Edmonton

Derek Weisbeck has worked in finance for nearly 20 years and has been with Scotiabank and Scotia Wealth Management since 2007. Before joining Scotia Wealth Management, Derek worked for another bank-owned brokerage and spent a number of years teaching financial management and investing courses at the Northern Alberta Institute of Technology (NAIT) in Edmonton. He is a skilled investor who takes a client-focused approach to wealth management and understands the importance of communication and transparency. Derek believes in protecting and growing wealth over time, offering personalized wealth management solutions that consider each client's individual needs and goals. He works with integrity and respect, striving to create security, balance and peace of mind for his clients.

A long-time resident of Edmonton, Derek lives with his wife, Joelle, and their three sons. Together, they value family, philanthropy, and an active lifestyle with their children.
