

January 16, 2026

Application for Graduate Studentship

To be used to conduct research in Parkinson's disease at an Alberta-based University. Research can be basic or clinical. Candidate may be doing MSc or PhD. For the applicant to qualify, the supervisor must hold a permanent faculty position at a registered Alberta based academic institution.

Submit the following:

- a. Curriculum Vitae of Applicant
- b. Biosketch of Supervisor (NIH format preferred)
- c. Description of project (maximum three pages): suggested headings are Background and Rationale, Objectives, Research Methodology, Timeline (which should refer to graduate program activities that would be completed in the 2-years award period), Projected Impact
- d. Description of resources and support from supervisor (maximum one page): this should include in some detail the local resources that would make the proposed research feasible for the awarded time period
- e. Lay summary of project (500-900 words)

Total amount of award up to $50,000 ($25,000/year for 2 years)

The deadline for application is Friday, March 20, 2026 and awards will be announced by June 1st, 2026.

Submit EOI's and completed applications by email to Lana Tordoff, Executive Director:
ltordoff@parkinsonassociation.ca

D. Martino, MD PhD
Chair, Research Committee